These advanced technologies and initiatives are multiplying to attempt to control the situation, effectively treat patients, and facilitate the efforts of overworked health care workers. Biomedical and Biotechnology researchers while developing new effective vaccines and medical devices. This analysis examines in detail how five advanced technological domains are helping to survive in normal life. The advanced technology in itself cannot replace or make up for other public Covid policy measures, but it plays a major role in an emergency.

In the future, in any type of disease, the following five advanced technologies will be crucial for maintaining public trust and public health interventions.

TOPICS TO DISCUSS

1. Open source technologies
2. Telehealth technologies
3. Gene technologies
4. Synthetic biology
